Council Stress Need for Permits

Letters to plumbing firms in the Crows Nest Pass will be sent by the council, advising that permits must be obtained for any plumbing work done in town. A license to operate must also be taken out by the firms. Sewer line permits must also be obtained from the town office and these are free of charge.

Council also agreed that no sewer service lines will be put in unless a $15 deposit is paid and a contract signed. These items were all approved by council at its meeting February 22nd so that a record of the above installations will be had by the town.

Reports that two young children almost sustained an accident near one of the sewerage ditches near the pump house in East Coleman, was brought to the attention of council.

Tollestrup Construction, who are installing the sewerage system for the town, will be advised of this immediately, with a view to getting the water filled ditches fenced off properly to eliminate the hazard for children.

Councillors Mel Cornett, Tony Cocciolone and Jack Jenkins were appointed to sit on the court of revision to be held on April 8th when six complaints will be heard.

Secretary Glen Sweet will look into the cost of having the town's backhoe completely overhauled in a Calgary shop. When price is established the unit will be taken to Calgary for the overhaul and the unit is to be used only for gas, water and sewerage utilities work.

A discussion was held on the miners' bus stops and loading areas in town, and this matter is to be further looked into with the Union officials before a decision is made on the erection of signs and hours to be specified on the signs.

Council approved the borrowing of the sum of $10,000 to meet current expenses.

Councilman Gordon Dunford was granted a leave of absence while he is completing a course.

A report from the Chinook Health Unit indicated that samples of water analyzed in Edmonton had proven negative, showing no signs of unfavorable contamination.

A study of the town's auditors' financial statement was made in preparation for the annual ratepayers' meeting.

Funeral Services For John Sikora Well Attended

Joseph Sikora passed away in Carmangay Hospital, on Tuesday, February 22nd, age 43 years.

He was born in Tessa, Czechoslovakia, on February 24th, 1922, coming to Coleman in 1928, where he lived until 1954 when he moved to Bow Island, living there for two years and then moving to Barons where he has resided since.

He married the former Bernice Schultz of Bow Island in 1954. He was employed as an electrician for Calgary Power for the past 15 years.

He served with the Canadian Forces in World War Two in France and Germany for four years before being discharged in 1945.

Survivors include his wife Bernice and four young children, Rodney, Philip, Valerie, Lorraine, all of Barons; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sikora, sr., of Coleman; three brothers, John of Coleman, Ernie of Calgary and Tony of Toronto, Ont.; four sisters, Mrs. Joe (Mary) Galvin of Calgary, Mrs. Garry (Elsie) Joyce of Calgary, Mrs. R. (Anne) Lewis of Toronto, and Frances, a sister in the Order of St. Joseph's in Peterborough, Ont.

Prayers were said in Fantin's Hillside Chapel at 8 p.m. on Friday, February 25th. Solemn Requiem High Mass was celebrated on Saturday, February 26th at 10:30 a.m. in the Coleman Holy Ghost Catholic Church, with Father F. Mongeau of Claresholm as Celebrant, assisted by Father Denis Fleming of Calgary as Deacon, and Father Walter Krewski of Coleman as Sub-Deacon.

Interment followed in the Holy Ghost Catholic Cemetery.

Palbearers were Stan Pylczak of Cranbrook, John Kobak of Calgary and Bill Holmes, Joe Kurtin, Frank MacIsaac and Doug Goodman of Barons. Fantin's Hillside Chapel was in charge.

The Alberta Forestry Tour of 1966

Starting on March 14th, the bright red conservation "caravan" of the Alberta Forestry Association will again be a familiar sight in scores of Alberta communities throughout the forested areas of the province, and will be in Coleman Monday, March 21 at the Cameron School.

In charge of Greg Stevens, Educational Director for the Association, this mobile unit, equipped with the latest in visual aids, will be on the road until late November making it possible for Mr. Stevens to present his message on forest conservation, through the use of talks and sound films, to 50,000 people in the coming months.

A major objective is to enlist the support of the young people and to this end the Association enjoys most effective co-operation from the school authorities and teachers. Special programs are presented to the pupils during school hours and the films are arranged to suit the needs of the different age groups or academic levels.

As the Association has carried on these annual tours, in co-operation with the Alberta Forest Service, for over 25 years, it is becoming possible to assess some of the results of this unique educational undertaking. Very definitely two goals have been achieved: people are much more aware of the need for conservation than ever before, and they are showing increasing willingness to accept greater responsibility in the welfare of the renewable resources.

Most noticeable is the interest being shown in the last few years by students. They are asking questions about soil erosion, watershed control, and the wise use of our forest resources. As the renewable resources are the reservoirs from which we must continue to draw our essential needs, today, and in the future, it is encouraging to note that young people are recognizing their stake in our outdoor heritage.

We hear a lot of 'happy' talk as if all of us were entitled to a lifetime of happiness, all wrapped up like a box from the jewellers. We aren't really, but we CAN learn how to EARN happiness. Write for "The Chain of Happy Living," to the Canadian Mental Health Association, 619 Revillon Building, Edmonton.

Family Service Bureau Board of Directors

Our chairman is Grant Hall. He arrived in the district six months ago from Edmonton with his wife, two small daughters, and infant son. He operates the Grant Hall Pharmacy in Balmora, and is the treasurer of the Blairmore Arena Board.

His reasons for helping with the Family Service Board are, Quote: If families were able to operate harmoniously many of the behavior problems that we now see would cease to exist. But if a family needs help, I feel it is a shame if there is no one they can go to to receive help or advice. This help should be available to people regardless of race or religion. As I do not have the training to provide such help, I want to work in such a way as to insure that trained people are here in this area to give professional service.

The Family Service Bureau provides the service of which I speak, and therefore I want to give all the assistance I can.

Services Held For John Sprlak

John Sprlak died suddenly at his residence in Coleman, Sunday, February 27th, at the age of 64 years.

He was born on October 14th, 1901 in Vitanova Povazska, Czechoslovakia. He came to Canada in 1929, settling in Brodwick, Sask., where he lived for two years before coming to Coleman.

He worked as a miner in the McGillivray Mine of Coleman Collieries until his retirement in 1955. He was a member of the Canadian Slovak League, the UMWA and of Catholic faith.

He was predeceased by his parents, some brothers and sisters in Czechoslovakia.

Survivors include his wife Josephine; one son, John of Blairmore; one daughter, Mrs. M. (Helen) Dikun of Lethbridge; one brother Pete, of Chilliwack, B.C.; four grandchildren and one brother and one sister in the Old Country.

Prayers were said in Fantin's Hillside Chapel at 8 p.m. Wednesday, March 2nd. Funeral service was held in Fantin's Hillside Chapel Thursday, March 3rd at 10 a.m., with Rev. W. Krewski officiating. Interment was in the Coleman Catholic cemetery. Fantin's Hillside Chapel was in charge of arrangements.

Skating Party Much Enjoyed

Well over 150 Coleman Elks, the Order of the Royal Purple and their families enjoyed a skating party in the Coleman arena recently.

Races and games were held for the children after which hot dogs, pop and coffee were served to all.

Taxation that limits savings increases Canada's dependence on foreign capital.

Fair Attendance At Annual Meeting

Thirteen ratepayers attending the annual ratepayers meeting of the town of Coleman heard reports that the Coleman Natural Gas Company and the Coleman Light and Water Company had again realized good profit after the year's operation.

Mayor John Holyk reported on the Gas company operation and noted that the system had again operated with a very substantial surplus and should continue to do so as new consumers are coming in steadily. Considerable plant expansion was done last year which used up a portion of the gross profit but the net profit however was very substantial.

Councillor Mel Cornett, speaking for the Coleman Ligh. and Water Company stated that this utility again showed a good surplus. He indicated that there would be substantial expenditure in this department in the coming year as the water system had to be modified and renovated. He stated that this expenditure would more than likely be supported by sale of debentures.

Councillor Cornett presented a very concise report provided by fire chief Henry Zak, which outlined the activities of the fire department for the year. Mr. Cornett also gave a brief outline of the Police Department's activities during the past year and since former Police Chief Ed Corson had left town a detailed breakdown of all activities was impossible to obtain.

Replying to a query by Walter Dibbie regarding what the town's intentions were regarding police protection, Mr. Cornett advised that no firm decision would be made until April 1, 1966. By that time indicated Mr. Cornett, council would have all the information regarding Federal-Provincial agreement on RCMP contracts.

Shamrock Bonspiel March 18 to 20

Ron Collings, president of the Coleman Curling Club, has announced that dates have been set for the annual Shamrock Bonspiel to be held in the curling rink.

The three-event 'spiel will be held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, March 18, 19 and 20, and will get underway with the first draw on Friday evening.

A total of 32 rinks will be invited to take part in the 'spiel to be played on four sheets of artificial ice with matched rocks.

There will be over $400 in prizes awarded for the three events.

Entries are to be sent to Secretary John Miller at Coleman, and entry fee has been set at $20 per rink.

Milk is pasteurized by heating to 140 degrees or more, then cooling very quickly.

Councillor Ted Kryczka reported on recreation and advised that the delay in the operation of the arena this year was due to a breakdown of machinery. It was felt that this was the responsibility of the company supplying the machinery as they had been contacted and had not checked the machines. Matters pertaining to the payment of the work performed has yet to be settled.

Mr. Kryczka informed the meeting that building permits issued during the year 1965 had increased over the previous year and he felt that as soon as the new subdivisions are ready growth would continue at a steady if not rapid pace.

Councillor Kryczka reported on the financial statement after which both he and Mayor Holyk answered questions on finance.

Councillor William Filewich reported on the town's welfare committee and advised that this department is in good condition financially due to the fact that expenses are at a minimum.

Discussion was held on the work of the sewer system installations, and it was indicated that the service would be in use this year. Mayor Holyk advised that the town of Coleman would not be paying extra to Tollestrup Construction for frost removal. The construction firm had requested a 40c per lineal foot charge be paid to them for this service.

The municipal inspector's report was read by Mayor Holyk and indicated that the recommendations noted in the report would be adhered to in the future.

A vote of thanks to the Mayor and council for the fine work they have done during the year was moved by Horace Allen.

NEW JETLINER — Air Canada has taken delivery of the first of 18 Douglas DC-9 twin-jets presently on order for delivery in 1966 and 1967. Six of the 72-passenger versions of the new aircraft will be turned over to the airline by mid-June, while twelve 94-passenger extended versions will be delivered in 1967. The short-to-medium range jetliner will go into service on regular Air Canada routes beginning April 24. Powered by two tail-mounted JT8D-5 Pratt & Whitney turbo-fan engines, the aircraft will cruise at 555 miles-an-hour on routes between 100 and 1,350 miles in length. The acquisition by Air Canada of the 18 DC-9s, plus six standard and extended versions of the Douglas DC-8 to be delivered in 1966 and 1967, will more than double the number of jets in the airline's fleet.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

"Smile When You Say That, Pardner"

The prairie west has been witnessing a battle more exciting than anything Madison Avenue ever dreamed up for a television western. Joe Greene, eastern lawyer and fledgling Minister of Agriculture, donned an ill-fitting stetson, and came swaggering out to the west intent on winning friends and influencing farmers.

Joe reckoned it would be smart politics to find a villain to tangle with. And what better villain than the danged railroads? So Joe fired from both lips. He allowed that the CPR wasn't moving prairie grain as fast as it should and that he, Joe Greene, was going to put the railroad in its place. He talked real loud, real western. The varmints in the CPR ought to have dropped dead in their tracks in front of the saloon as Joe rode off into the sunset, flushed with political victory.

But it didn't happen quite that way. — That dad-ratted Bob Emerson, a prairie boy from Plum Coulee, head man of the CPR, was quick on the draw, too. And he had plenty of ammunition in the form of facts. He came striding up Main Street in Winnipeg, looking prairie folks straight in the eye. He booked in at the Royal Alex saloon, and invited all comers in for some plain talk.

Bob Emerson told the people his railroad — the CPR — had met every commitment it had made to move grain; that in fact it was 15 per cent ahead of commitments and beating hell out of all former records. He allowed that it was low-down dirty for politicians to talk the way Joe Greene had talked, when CPR hands had fought so hard to bull those trains on through the Fraser Canyon, fighting blizzards and rock slides as valiantly as any cow poke from pioneer days.

It was real western talk and it rang true. Soon farmers got to feeling they and the CPR fought shoulder to shoulder against tough grain and rough weather. It wasn't fair for that eastern lawyer to go picking on railworkers that-a-way. It was a mean, low-down ambush, said folks from Plum Coulee to Lethbridge, who can tell a good guy from a bad guy any day of the week.

Report From Parliament Hill

(Lawrence E. Kindt, M.P.)

Feb. 17, 1966

At the moment Parliament is busily engaged in approving proposed expenditures of money that has already been spent. This may sound a little like "Alice in Wonderland", but that is the way Parliament sometimes operates. Actually, it is not as silly as it sounds.

The Government's spending Estimates are never approved until a considerable amount of money has been actually spent. In order that the Government may pay its current bills, Parliament from time to time grants the Government "Interim Supply", usually for a period of a month at a time, until all the Estimates are approved.

During periods when there is no Parliament because of an election or when Parliament is not in session, the cost of running the Government and payment of bills must be met. Bills are paid during such periods by an emergency method known as "Governor General's Warrants", i.e., the Governor General authorizes the advancing of money to the Government to meet current expenses.

To date, the Estimates of only two Departments (Foreign Affairs and Transport) have been approved, but it is quite likely that the Estimates of the rest of the Government Departments will go through rather quickly, with the exception of Agriculture, Justice and the CBC.

The Justice Estimates are quite likely to be contentious because of Government policies on the Spencer Spy Case and the notorious Bankruptcy Scandals. In this latter regard, Mr. Eric Nielsen, M.P. for the Yukon, has promised very interesting revelations.

For several reasons, the spending

Estimates of the CBC have not received careful consideration by Parliament for a number of years, and the policies of that organization, and in particular its spending policies, have become exceedingly controversial.

After consideration of the present Estimates has been completed, indications are that the great debate on Capital Punishment will probably take place — more on that in subsequent columns.

Canvassers Ready For Red Cross Campaign

Canvassers in more than 300 of Alberta's smaller communities will be knocking on doors throughout March — Red Cross Month — to raise funds for Red Cross services.

In larger centres, where the Society raises funds in conjunction with united or federated appeals, promotional and publicity drives will be conducted.

The Alberta Division, Red Cross has set a campaign goal of $530,306 for 1966. About 22 per cent of this is expected to be raised during March.

This money will be used to maintain such Red Cross programs as blood transfusion services, water safety service, Junior Red Cross, disaster service, international relief and services to veterans.

A New Look At Fire Prevention

(By Austin Bridges, Fire Commissioner)

Fire precautions are learned something new every year. We understand that it is possible to detect the early stages of fire in a building by means of an electronic eye. On the other hand it is still not possible to predict what persons will do or allow when handling matches or cigarettes. According to our latest fire loss statistics 17 Albertans, both adults and children, died from carelessness with cigarettes and matches during 1965.

In spite of the many new fuels in common use, gasoline heads the list in causing loss of life.

Many people forget that gasoline is an explosive and highly dangerous liquid if not handled and stored under precise conditions. Eight persons died in Alberta as a result of accidents with petroleum products during 1965.

After reviewing these statistics and the present daily fire loss newspaper headlines, we are somewhat pessimistic about the level of interest and concern about the fire loss situation. The fire loss picture in Alberta is very much similar to the situation elsewhere in Canada. We are no doubt the most reckless and most fire loss conditioned nation in the world.

Isn't it annoying to have this situation in a country where there are abundant resources to make life both exciting and interesting, and at the same time free from fire danger? Can it be that built-in safety and product certification are of less account than sales appeal?

Since we tend to become more and more subject to fire hazards resulting from new materials, new processes and new designs, we ought to give greater attention to construction safety and to specialized protection.

Canadians can well afford this specialized protection. I predict that there will be a greater demand for automatic fire detection, compartmentation of buildings and other well proven fire protection engineering safeguards, when we become thoroughly disillusioned with the financial burden of higher and higher fire losses.

Certainly national fire waste is even now to such proportions that it is a financial burden to us all.

but it is difficult to see any change in prospect.

There is hope of high purpose and striving for a strong national identity in Canada's Centennial year. Why not a Centennial year with greatly reduced fire losses? It might well be that this could have a good measure of public appeal. We have heard plans for a bonfire burning celebration. Why not a Centennial fire control project—CFCP for 1967.

I am sure Canada does not want to continue the reputation of a nation having the worst fire loss record. I am just as sure that sound and proven fire prevention measures, if more dramatically presented and more rigidly enforced, could change the picture.

Balloon Race Across Prairies

TORONTO, Ont. — A balloon race across the Prairies by the world's top experts in the sport, the Ballooning Fraternity of Europe, was suggested here today by Canada's Centennial Commissioner, John Fisher.

Speaking at a luncheon at the Inn on the Park to the Propane Gas Association, Mr. Fisher said that the Association and its member companies could well sponsor such an event, as a Centennial project. The European balloonists are looking for a Canadian sponsor, he said.

"It's a great spectacle," he said, "and since its revival as a sport in Europe a few years ago, it has attracted huge crowds to the races in the Swiss Alps." The Prairies are favored by the balloonists because of the prevailing westerly winds and fewer cities, he said. Balloonists had given thought to starting the race at Expo '67 in Montreal, but were afraid they might end up in the wilds of Labrador, Mr. Fisher explained.

The Ballooning Fraternity of Europe is interested in participating in such an event, Mr. Fisher said, adding that in a recent trip to England he had talked with balloonists and balloon fans.

George Powell, European General Manager of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, is an enthusiast, Mr. Fisher said "and he has been in touch with Fred Dolder of Switzerland, who directs the annual major balloon event in Murren, Switzerland."

Mr. Dolder is described by Mr. Powell as one of the top balloonists in the world, and he has volunteered to do all the necessary organizing "in the hope that the 1967 Canada project may be realized." Mr. Dolder would be willing to talk to any corporation, association or local government.

Special arrangements are made at the annual Murren event for selling post cards which are ultimately taken up in balloons and mailed from the post office nearest the landing point. These "Balloon Post" covers are highly valued both by philatelists and souvenir seekers and their sale results in a considerable sum of money being turned over to Swiss welfare organizations annually.

Balloonists, like mountain climbers, are true amateurs, Mr. Fisher said, and they are not interested in making money. The European enthusiasts are anxious to contribute to the Centennial Year in Canada, and would come here for minimal expenses, if they could meet a sponsor. Under the proposal, the balloonists could visit many Prairie cities.

Salvation Army To "Go With Gospel"

The Salvation Army in Canada has launched a nation-wide evangelistic "GO-GO" Crusade.

In a recent communique to the Army's 1900 officers in Canada, Commissioner E. Grinstead expressed grave concern over the growing spiritual apathy and self-centered materialistic purposes of many people today.

Further concern was evidenced on behalf of the multitude of children and undisciplined youth who, though well fed and educated, are brought up with a selfish view of life.

In the light of this widespread deterioration in Canada's social and religious conscience, the Army's Commissioner has called upon all Salvationists to personally share in a ten-week National Evangelistic Crusade with strong emphasis on spiritual renewal.

Every Salvation Army corps from coast to coast will make a concerted effort to intensify its spiritual ministry.

The Salvation Army's National Leader concluded his "Pastoral Letter" with an exhortation: "In Christ's name, I ask you to prayerfully consider these things... and then let your desire to GO—lead you to the people with THE GOSPEL."

Priests and witch doctors of many primitive people burned sulphur as a sort of reverse incense to drive away evil spirits.
